

My Little Girl Has Diabetes.

We'll BOTH Get Our Flu Vaccines.

If you live with or care for someone at increased risk for serious complications from seasonal influenza, you should get seasonal flu vaccine. Groups at high risk include kids and adults with chronic medical conditions like asthma and diabetes.

This flu season, kids also need to get a vaccine to protect them from 2009 H1N1 influenza (sometimes called "swine flu").

They rely on you to protect them.

Get vaccinated.
